

To Whom It May Concern

I have instructed Dániel Székely in the first semester of 2010, when he was my student on the course of Fundamental of Drilling at University of Miskolc, Department of Petroleum Engineering. He was outstanding with his practical issues and complex thinking.

I was pleased when he asked me to be his mentor with writing his Thesis. His thesis, which was about „Evaluate of Well Screen Selection“, was grade with merit. During his research, he was thorough and committed, and he carried out his task with utmost devotion and responsibility.

Dániel is an ambitious young man, always full of energy and commitment., cooperative and accurate, who will become an expert of his profession.

Sincerely,

Dr. Imre Federer
Associate Professor
